AUTHOR OF NOTE AND BRIDE HERE

Captain Grozan of the English Army En Route To Australia.

Captain E. S. Grozan and wife of London are guests at the Hawaiian, having arrived yesterday on the Alameda. Captain Grozan is a youthful Englishman of the military and of many honors. He is the only man who has ever succeeded in traversing the continent of Africa from the most southern end to Cairo, and for having done this he is noted among the world's most famous explorers.

He is also a successful author, his book, "From Cape to Cairo," having attracted wide attention through the interesting adventures and discoveries outlined therein.

Captain Grozan received an Advertiser reporter last evening and briefly and modestly outlined his career. "I was born in London," he said, "in 1875 and was educated at Cambridge. After leaving college I entered the army and became a member of the Fourth Royal Minister Fusiliers stationed at Portsmouth. My first active service was in Africa with the Rhodesian Horse Corps, in 1896, at Matabeleland. Later I went down into southern Africa exploring for amusement and adventure. I had a great deal of both. I was three years reaching Cairo from the Cape, and consider myself rather fortunate to have gotten out at all. There is great peril in traveling through the unexplored parts of the Dark Continent."

Soon after his return from Africa, Captain Grozan wrote his book and it met with instant success. He is now touring the world on a pleasure trip. The Captain is not touring alone. He has with him a bride of three months. They were married in New Zealand and will return to Australia by the next steamer.

Frank H. Foster, one of the defendants in the case of Kamalo Sugar Company vs. Frank Hustace & Co., has filed an answer to the amended complaint, stating that he has received $60,000, but claims that his services and expenditures amount to that sum, and petitions that if his portion of the paid-up stock be declared illegal, the court will allow him to prove it, and that it be thereupon decreed that the Kamalo Sugar Company shall pay the amount to him.

For Refined Sugars.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The various sugar refining concerns today reduced the price of the product to a uniform rate of 5.24 cents per pound. The American Sugar Refining Company took the initiative, making a reduction of ten points, and this action was promptly followed by its ally, the National Sugar Refining Company, which made a five-point cut necessary to bring the price to an equality with trust figures. Later in the day Arbuckle Brothers announced a cut which put the price of their granulated sugars on a level with the new prices of the American and National companies.

WEAVER'S FLYING VISIT TO HAWAII

Famous "Commodore" on the Alameda—Peterson Knew Him.

"Commodore" Weaver, of local as well as general fame, has paid Honolulu another visit.

He passed through here on the steamship Alameda yesterday, registered on that vessel's passenger list in his usual modest manner, "N. M. Weaver and valet." There is one man in town who is very much interested in the "Commodore." That man is Bert Peterson.

Peterson has good reason to remember Weaver. He lent the adventurous yachtsman money, so he says, and has seen nothing in return for it as yet.

Peterson visited aboard the Alameda while she was in port yesterday and had a heart to heart talk with the gentleman who has at different times managed to make such entertaining reading in the newspapers of the States, Honolulu and Australia.

Weaver was last in the port of Honolulu in the yacht Norma in September, 1899. A dark, handsome woman accompanied him and was introduced to all who were admitted to the society of the delightful pair as his sister-in-law. A bottomry attachment against the Norma hove in sight soon after the mysterious Weaver had anchored his palatial little craft in the neighborhood of "Hoodoo Row," or "Rotten Row." Someone away over the sea in the Orient had instituted the suit, claiming that Weaver was indebted to them for certain moneys. Weaver told an Advertiser reporter at the time that the whole affair was a deep-laid scheme to blacken his good name and to prevent his having his own sweet way in certain matters. Weaver, however, went to San Francisco from here and left his yacht here at the wish of interested parties.

Shortly afterwards he returned to Honolulu with the money required to settle all claims against him and the Norma was released.

One beautiful day Bert Peterson, Weaver and the sister-in-law sailed away for the South Sea Islands in the little yacht Norma. They arrived and dropped anchor at Apia. At Apia, Peterson and Weaver secured options on some land for the purpose of starting a cocoa plantation. Peterson shortly after this must have received a revelation concerning the business methods of the "Commodore," for he left him and his sister-in-law and went to Australia. Peterson returned to Honolulu last year.

Weaver continued to flourish until he struck Auckland, when he was badly in need of money. He borrowed cash from a trusting woman in that city and then sailed for Sydney. The woman pursued him. At Sydney the yacht was attached and the "Commodore" left her and returned to the United States.

It is understood that Bert Peterson will institute action against Weaver in the Pago Pago courts.

WATER RIGHTS SUIT.

Supreme Court Reverses Decision in Schnarsch Case.

In the matter of the suit of Joseph Schnarsch for $7,550 damages against the Kilauea Sugar Company, for alleged infringement of water rights, the Supreme Court yesterday filed a decision sustaining in part the appeal of the defendant and ordering a new trial.

The judgment given in the Circuit Court for the plaintiff in the sum of $3,196 was deemed excessive. The damages alleged in plaintiff's complaint were in two separate claims, one for $5,550 for wrongful diversion of water, and the second for $2,000 as damages for wrongful discharge from defendant's employ.

The opinion is by Justice Perry, concurred in by Justice Galbraith and Chief Justice Frear. It is based upon the following finding:

"The owner of a dominant estate may not substantially alter the location of a ditch or watercourse maintained, under a right acquired by prescription on the land of another, without the consent, express or implied, of the owner of the servient estate."

BOSTON'S BARBER REGULATIONS.

Board of Health Orders Sterilization of All that Barbers Use on Customers. A special dispatch from Boston, May 5, 1900, to the N. Y. A separate, clean towel shall be used for each person. Material to stop the flow of blood shall be used only in powdered form and applied on a towel. Powder puffs are prohibited."
